

ABSTRACT

Apparatus and methods for providing print services for a mobile electronic device are provided. A method includes receiving an access code. The access code is for granting the mobile electronic device access to a publicly accessible printer via a print service. The method also includes collecting a first fee from a user of the mobile electronic device in exchange for the access code.